What's Next?

To help give you an idea of what to expect, below we will outline the next steps for developing and implementing your program.

Modifying the Proposal

We are happy to implement changes as necessary to ensure our proposal meets your program needs and expected outcomes. This proposal is customizable, whether you need to add additional activities, find ways to reduce costs, incorporate additional faculty leaders, or change program dates.

Contract

Should you decide to move forward with this proposal, the contract will detail the services included in the program as well as API's financial policies, deadlines, and other terms.

Payment Schedule and Important Deadlines

Please note the following important deadlines regarding program confirmation, student forms, and university payments:

Program Confirmation Deadline: March 5, 2020	 The University will submit an initial roster of students to API. If the program does not have enough students to run, notify API in writing by this date for cancellation without penalty. If the program will run, API will invoice a non-refundable confirmation payment for each student on the initial roster for which the University becomes liable on this date. This payment will be applied toward the program fee assessed per student based on final student numbers.
Enrollment Deadline and Forms Deadline: April 3, 2020	 Last day to add/drop participants, including students, faculty or guests. API will invoice the University the program balance for each student listed on the final roster, for which the University becomes liable on this date. No refunds will be issued for any withdrawals that occur after this date.
Final Payment Deadline: April 20, 2020	Full payment is due to API from the University.

Marketing and Recruitment - Let API Help You!

API is happy to help you get the word out to your school's students (and beyond!) about your program. If requested, API can design and print brochures or flyers to help you promote your customized program. Recognized for our innovative and outstanding social media presence, API is also happy to spread the word about your program to outside students via various social media outlets, as well as on our website and other study abroad websites.

API Learning Goals

Below are API's five main goals for study abroad participants. We are committed to incorporating these goals into your customized program, when applicable.

SET LEARNING BOTH INSIDE AND OUTSIDE OF THE CLASSROOM AS YOUR TOP PRIORITY

PLEDGE TO USE
THE LANGUAGE OF
THE HOST COUNTRY
WITH LOCAL COMMUNITY MEMBERS TO THE FULLEST EXTENT POSSIBLE

COMMIT TO ASKING THE "WHYS" MORE OFTEN, INSTEAD OF JUST EXPERIENCING AND APPRECIATING THE "WHAT"

By focusing on the goals above, it is our hope that your students will achieve the following:

OUTCOME 1

Succeed in the host country academic environment and return home with academic credits that can be applied toward their degree.

OUTCOME 2

Demonstrate improvements in language skills (where applicable) and a deeper understanding of the host culture.

OUTCOME 3

Return home with a transformed view of the world and their role within it.

OUTCOME 4

Be a more confident and informed traveler by recognizing their own role in personal safety, taking proper precautions and using available resources.

Frequently Asked Questions

Does API have a minimum number of students needed for a program to run?

The standard minimum to make a program economically feasible is 10 students. However, we are sometimes able to make exceptions. Running a program with fewer than 10 students may increase the per-student price.

Can faculty or students bring guests on the program (spouses, children)?

Students are not permitted to bring guests on the program. API does not encourage faculty to bring guests either, as we find that it can often disrupt the group dynamics. However, we do accommodate spouses and family members of the faculty leaders if the institutional partner permits faculty guests on customized programs. Guests will need to submit some standard forms to API. Minor children under the age of 13 must be accompanied by an adult program guest other than the faculty leader at all times while participating in API program activities.

If the API application deadline has passed, can we still recruit students?

We are at times able to admit more students to a program after the application deadline has passed, but this depends on various factors such as housing availability and group flights. Before denying a student admittance into your program, please check with API to see if there is still room. We are always happy to welcome more participants if possible.

Can students use our institution's health insurance coverage on your programs?

Yes. However, if your institution's policy does not include medical evacuation and repatriation coverage, it is API policy to include our insurance coverage for all participants.

Why API?
